LightingEurope congratulates new President & Executive Committee of the Global Lighting Association

LightingEurope congratulates the new members of the Executive Committee of the Global Lighting Association (GLA) and Maurice Maes, Vice-President of LightingEurope and representative of Signify, on his appointment as GLA President.

“Today’s global challenges require global thinking and local action,” states Ourania Georgoutsakou, LightingEurope Secretary General. “Ours is a global industry and LightingEurope members serve a global market. The GLA is a unique platform to pool knowledge and experience from across the world and feed into regional policies. LightingEurope is a founding member of the GLA and we support the GLA’s work to promote the full potential of modern lighting to enhance people’s lives and to foster better enforcement of regulations and standards across the globe.”

About the Global Lighting Association

The GLA is the voice of the lighting industry on a global basis, fostering growth for the lighting industry by promoting the value of lighting, as well as trade practices and healthy regulatory frameworks that stimulate innovation and fair competition. The GLA shares information on political, scientific, business, social and environmental issues of relevance to the lighting industry and advocates its position to relevant stakeholders in the international sphere. More information is available on the GLA website www.globallightingassociation.org
